DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is responsive to the following communication: Continuation application filed on 27 January 2004.
2. Claims 1-19 are pending and present for examination. Claims 1 and 10 are independent.

Information Disclosure Statement

3. The information disclosure statement (IDS) was filed on 09 August 2004. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Drawings

4. The drawings filed on 27 January 2004 are accepted by the Examiner.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 2161

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-19 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,442,611. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claimed invention is broader in scope than the invention found U.S. Patent No. 6,442,611 upon which the present application claims priority to.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claims 1-4, 6-8, 10-14, and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cloud et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,634,127, hereinafter referred to as CLOUD), filed on 30 November 1994, and issued on 27 May 1997.

9. As per independent claims 1 and 10, CLOUD teaches:

A method comprising:

- (a) transmitting a set of data access transactions to respective applications, wherein at least some of the set of data access transactions comprise a first optional data item, and wherein the respective applications process the set of data access transactions even when the respective applications do not recognize the first

Art Unit: 2161

optional data item {See CLOUD, col. 11, lines 27-34, wherein this reads over "decompose the message receive and invoke several task to independently retrieve information from whatever different sources are necessary"}; and

(b) integrating the set of responses received from the respective applications {See CLOUD, Abstract, wherein this reads over "[i]nformation resulting from workflows and information retrieved from back-end servers may be integrated into a single reply message to the requesting client"}.

10. As per dependent claims 2 and 11, CLOUD teaches:

The method of claim 1 further comprising, before (a), receiving a request from a second application, the second application being different from the respective applications {See CLOUD, col. 11, lines 15-16, wherein this reads over "the work flow manager is initiated by a request message which it receives as input"}.

11. As per dependent claims 3 and 13, CLOUD teaches:

The method of claim 2, wherein the request is transmitted by the second application in response to user initiation {See CLOUD, Figure 10; and col. 16, lines 6-9, wherein this reads over "a customer service representative initiates a request message. The message is received at the MDP and a message control block is established"}.

12. As per dependent claims 4 and 14, CLOUD teaches:

The method of claim 2, wherein the request is transmitted by the second application in response to intelligent agent software initiation {See CLOUD, col. 8, lines 30-34, wherein this reads over "the input request manager can translate disparate front end message protocols into MDP message formats, allowing clients with existing application message formats to be accepted by the workflow Manager"}.

13. As per dependent claims 6 and 16, CLOUD teaches:

The method of claim 2 further comprising automatically identifying the set of data access transactions from the request {See CLOUD, col. 11, lines 27-34, wherein this reads over "the work flow will decompose the message received and invoke several tasks to independently retrieve information from whatever different sources are necessary"}.

14. As per dependent claims 7 and 17, CLOUD teaches:

The method of claim 1 further comprising returning the integrated set of responses to a second application, the second application being different from the respective applications {See CLOUD, col. 11, lines 30-34, wherein this reads over "the work flow manager manages all of the information placed into the session control block, to be described hereinafter, into one or more comprehensive replies which may then be sent back to the client"}.

15. As per dependent claims 8 and 18, CLOUD teaches:

The method of claim 1 further comprising:

receiving user identification information from a second application, the second application being different from the respective applications {See CLOUD, col. 11, lines

Art Unit: 2161

15-16, wherein this reads over "the work flow manager is initiated by a request message which it receives as input"; and verifying the received user identification information by accessing a user profile database {See CLOUD, col. 8, lines 26-34, wherein this reads over "security checking and client validation and registration functions"}.

16. As per dependent claim 12, it would be inherent for the second application to operatively transmit a request to the processor since without the ability to communicate with the processor, the application would not be able to functionally operate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

17. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

18. Claims 5 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over CLOUD, in view of Official Notice.

CLOUD teaches the limitations of claims 1-4, 6-8, 10-14, and 16-18 for the reasons stated above.

CLOUD differs from the claimed invention in that CLOUD fails to specifically disclose a method and system wherein the request is transmitted by the second application using a web browser (claims 5 and 15).

19. As per dependent claims 5 and 15, CLOUD, in view of Official Notice, discloses a method wherein the request is transmitted by the second application using a web browser.

The combination of inventions disclosed in CLOUD and Official Notice would disclose a method wherein a request may be transmitted over the Internet using a web browser (e.g. Microsoft Internet Explorer or Mozilla Firefox). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the above invention suggested by CLOUD by including a web browser.

Art Unit: 2161

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this modification so that where many applications are accessible over the Internet, the second application may transmit a request through the use of a web browser.

20. Claims 9 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over CLOUD, in view of Ferguson et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,819,092, hereinafter referred to as FERGUSON), filed on 6 October 1997, and issued on 6, October 1998.

21. As per dependent claims 9 and 19, CLOUD, in view of FERGUSON, discloses a method comprising computing a fee for using the respective applications by accessing a user profile database {See FERGUSON, col. 29, lines 36-39, wherein this reads over "subtool allows the developer of an online service to specify the fees that will be levies on or paid to users"; and col. 30, lines 1-5, wherein this reads over "fees can depend on . . . the identity of the user"}.

The combination of inventions disclosed in CLOUD and FERGUSON would disclose a system wherein application use fees would be calculated according to the identity of the user and the respective applications. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the above invention suggested by CLOUD by combining it with the invention disclose by FERGUSON.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this modification so that users may be charged access fees.
